

TYPICAL OMAHA NEW YEAR

Bracing Nebraska Weather with Just Enough Snow to Add Zest to the Day.

COMMUNION AND PRAYER IN CHURCHES

Observation of an Old Social Custom that Becomes Obsolete in the Crete of Time—The Holy Day in General.

Fifteen guests of pulverized snow, atmosphere crisp enough to set aglow the cheeks of the most pallid man in town, brisk wind from somewhere up north, but withal, inspiring outbursts of the associates, and the elements that combined to make a typical Nebraska New Year day.

While business in most lines was practically suspended, there was a sort of an observable restlessness indicating that the new year is going to open up renewed commercial activity.

A majority of the churches had finished their observation of the new year before the dawning of the day, but there were a few exceptions, notably among Episcopalians and Catholics.

At Trinity cathedral, holy communion was celebrated at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning. Dean Campbell Fair conducted the service.

At St. John's and other Catholic churches there were New Year day services in addition to the observation of the previous evening. At the night service there was special privilege granted by dispensation of the pope.

From 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock a. m. there was special prayer service at the First Presbyterian church, Seventeenth and Dodge streets. This was in lieu of a regular weekly meeting, which in most of the churches took the place of daylight service.

New Year day is not so important socially as in years gone by. Time was when all the sexes were obliged by custom to make New Year calls, and "open house" was the watchword; society leaders entertained lavishly and the day always marked an epoch in the social calendar.

But time has wrought a change and New Year calls have no more significance now than calls made upon any other day of the year. In the old days the society columns of the papers were justly entitled "New Year's List."

There was comparatively little hilarity in Omaha this New Year day. The time-honored custom of "swearing off" seems to prevail, and as a rule there was perfect decorum. Some daring, indifferent "men about town" distained the idea of a "good" new year beginning and broke themselves to haunts of revelry, but in the aggregate the day was as quiet and orderly as a dull Sunday in lazy midsummer.

YOUNG MEN RECEIVE FRIENDS. Throng of Visitors Enjoy Hospitality of Christian Association.

The rooms of the Young Men's Christian association were elaborately decorated for the reception and athletic contest Monday, and the program was completed with a success which has made the occasion an annual feature of New Year's day.

From 8 to 10 p. m. the association kept open house to its friends in the parlors. From 7 to 8 o'clock there was a special musical program by the Franz Adelman orchestra, with several excellent solo numbers.

Refreshments were served by the following committees: Monday, W. Carpenter, A. L. Patrick, H. J. Penfold, H. W. Fitz, J. A. Sunderland, I. N. Knapp, C. L. Chaffee, Warren Switzer, T. V. Moore, F. L. Willis, the Misses Butterfield and Miss Chaffee.

During the evening the parlors were crowded, the guests, about 500, availing themselves of the association's hospitality. Secretary Willda was the recipient of a handsome holiday remembrance from his fellow-workers of the association.

The "pentathlon" contest brought out some exceptionally clever work. First place was won by Will McElroy, with 271 points out of a possible 500. Glen Patterson was second with 271 points.

The winner was awarded the silver cup presented by a local jeweler, McElroy, who has been in training for the contest for several months, touched established records in two events, in the high jump he reached 5 feet 7 1/2 inches and in the fence vault 6 feet 2 inches.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS OPEN HOUSE. Welcome Friends in Parlors of First Congregational Church.

The Omaha woman's club held open house Monday night in the parlors of the First Congregational church in honor of the New Year, and never was a more hearty welcome or a more elegant function.

PLANS FOR DISTRICT COURT

Judges Held Conference and Make Docket Assignments.

ADDITIONAL EQUITY COURT IS CREATED

Dates of Terms in the Several Counties of the District Are Fixed—Insanity Commissioner is Appointed.

The seven judges of the district court met in the private office of Judge Baker in the court house Monday morning and behind closed doors made the docket assignments as provided for by statute, appointed two members of the insanity commission and transacted other routine business incident to settling down for the work of the year.

Judge Schlauch was chairman, Judge Dickinson secretary. The meeting opened at 10:30 o'clock and continued until noon. With the exception of Judges Eselle and Baxter, all the other judges were on the bench last year, the new members of the judiciary having been chosen in place of Judges Powell and Scott, retired.

Probably the most important feature of the meeting was the creation of an additional equity court. Heretofore there have been two equity courts, four jury courts for civil cases, and one for criminal trials.

The reason for this change is the notable increase of equity business within the last year. The number of divorce suits is constantly on the increase and there is another litigation that belongs to the equity docket. It has come to be quite fashionable for divorce applicants to ask for restraining orders along with the filing of their petitions, and this makes extra work for the judges, because prayers for restraining orders must be acted on at once, and the case is tried on its merits later. Sometimes a disconsolate wife sets forth that she is in danger of great bodily harm from her husband, or that he is about to sell valuable property, or that he is trying to remove the children out of the jurisdiction of the court, and so on. Equity judges must listen to all of these.

Assignment of Judges. The assignment of judges as agreed at the meeting is as follows: Court room No. 1, criminal, Judge Baker; No. 2, civil law, Judge Estelle; No. 3, civil law, Judge Schlauch; No. 4, civil law, Judge Baker; No. 5, equity, Judge Kessler; No. 6, equity, Judge Fawcett; No. 7, equity, Judge Dickinson; Judge Dickinson and Fawcett will continue to occupy their respective quarters in the Bee building, officially known as courts No. 6 and 7. The only changes made in the numbering of the rooms in the court house is that what was under the old regime No. 4 is now No. 5—simply an exchange of numbers.

The Fourth judicial district, of which Omaha is the chief point, embraces the counties of Douglas, Butler, Washington and Sarpy. The terms of court under the new administration will begin as follows: Douglas county, February 5, May 7 and October 1; Butler county, March 19, October 1; Washington county, February 26, September 17; Sarpy county, February 5, October 1. The counties outside of Douglas—Butler, Washington and Sarpy—will be served in the order named by Judges Estelle, Baxter and Schlauch.

Attorney J. L. Kaley and Dr. George Tilden were appointed members of the insanity board to act in conjunction with the clerk of the district court. The law provides that a doctor and a lawyer must be members of the board, its duties being to pass upon the mental condition of those who are arraigned on the charge of insanity.

It was decided that the September term of court—the present term—shall adjourn in Douglas county, January 6. There will be no more court until February 5, when the new term opens.

F. B. Thirkield, health inspector of Chicago, says: "Kolik Dyspepsia Cure cannot be recommended too highly. It cured me of severe dyspepsia. It digests what you eat and cures indigestion, heartburn and all forms of dyspepsia."

C. J. Karbach, a member of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, returned Sunday from Florida, where he had gone about two months ago in hopes of recovering his health. His many friends in this city will learn with regret that his condition was not materially improved, as a result of the southern trip.

Mr. Karbach is confined to his house and is still in a serious condition, although he stood the long railway journey fairly well. He is receiving the best of medical attention and every means possible is being employed to regenerate his failing health.

Dear Music Entertainers. Dumb Institute was devoted primarily to the entertainment of the younger people, although the amusement was enjoyed by a large crowd from the city of all ages.

The evening was started at 7:30 by a grand march of all the pupils. Some of the smaller children gave a cake walk that was full of new and novel steps. A contest of singing and dancing followed, and was open to all comers and several prizes were carried off. After a feast of good things a comedy entitled "Partner Hardware" was given. The six parts were well taken by A. E. Paul, Frank Schenck and L. M. Hunt.

The evening closed with a tableaux and red lights and a social singing of the pupils and their friends and relations.

There are all kinds of Thermometers

Weather thermometers Political thermometers Social thermometers Financial thermometers Trade thermometers

Our chief study is the latter. They are as big as the world. They mark fashion, production, prices. All the ups and downs are watched with the eyes of a stork. The same is practically a thermometer of the trade of this section.

Great care is taken to hold a steady temperature of assortment, qualities, lowest prices.

Our stockkeeping does not run down to zero when seasons are past, or because of any of a dozen common pretexts for selling off. We mean to have the store equally good and equally serviceable all the year round, one day as well as another.

And again we mention

FURS

You are mistaken if you think we have said the last word about Furs. Oh, no! There's lots of you who haven't as yet been furred, and we want you to know about them.

The fur men are worried. They've a right to be. An inch of snow in January isn't enough to save prices. You'll need furs yet before the birds start. You'll need them NEXT season, too. You can't get them exactly for nothing now—but nearer to it than ever before, perhaps.

There'll be a special showing of Furs today. Will you come?
